

What is a Home-Alyze Check-Up?

The Home-Alyze Check-Up is complete inspection of your home and its mechanical components that is done on a regular basis.

Everyone understands the value of having their oil changed every 5000km for their car, they know that they must see a dentist twice a year and a doctor at least once a year, but they often neglect their home. And, for most people, their home is their single largest investment.

The Home-Alyze Check-Up program is all about preventative maintenance versus reactive maintenance. You can imagine your repair bill if you never checked or changed your oil and only took your car in when the engine failed!

We recommend that you have your home inspected once every year as part of our Home-Alyze Check-Up program.

Why do I need a Home-Alyze Check-Up?

Safety

Checking regularly for safety hazards is one of the primary purposes of having a Home-Alyze Check-Up. Your home inspection expert will look for electrical hazards, carbon monoxide leaks, evidence of moisture behind walls and numerous other conditions that can lead to dangerous situations. You'll sleep better at night knowing your home is being checked regularly.

Maintenance & Planning

Over time, like anything else, items in your home begin to age, deteriorate and eventually need replacing.

A Home-Alyze Check-Up helps you:

- Catch small problems before they become larger and far more expensive to fix.
- Give you realistic lifespans for the expensive upgrades, like your furnace, roof and other items so you can plan ahead and budget properly for them.

Renovations

When planning home renovations, a Home-Alyze Check-Up can help you:

- Create a proper renovation budget.
- Learn how your renovations might affect the rest of your home.
- Learn whether there are hidden expenses you may not have thought of with your renovations.

Selling your home

When you are selling your home, a Home-Alyze Check-Up can help you:

- Sell your home faster.
- Get a higher selling price for your home.
- Reduce haggling.
- Find and fix problems.
- Allow potential buyers to feel more confident in making an offer.

Rewards

Home-Alyze participating locations offer AIR MILES® reward miles with your Home-Alyze Check-Up.
